WAVE OF ANTI-NAZI STRIKES SWEEPS UNOCCUPIED FRANCE

BERN, Oct. 31—(AP)—A new series of strikes was reported today to have broken out in France, especially in the Haute-Savoie Province of unoccupied France, among workers called to report for work in Germany. "Discontent is high among the population, although calm is being maintained," said one Agency report. Factories there were closed and police reserves dispatched to principal centers. At several towns in Haute-Savoie women were reported to have gathered before medical centers to hoot and heckle German doctors attempting to conduct examinations of their men. Tomorrow—November 1—is the day formally set for formal beginning of the roundup of workers under Pierre Laval's go-to-Germany drive. In effect, however, it's been under way for two weeks.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31—(AP)—Sugar rationing is slashing the moonshiner's output of illegal liquor. Sugar is basic for the moonshiner's product, and he could be smacked with a penalty for sugar bootlegging if he tried to build up his depleted sugar stock.

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE

What a small World this is after all!

And, how the boys in the armed forces do yearn for some home town tie!

Mrs. Glenn B. Rodgers received a card from an old friend and former resident of Washington C.

H. . . Mrs. Herbert Gardner who now lives in Indianapolis . . . she was Miss Alice Carpenter before her marriage to Mr. Gardner, a newspaperman . . . they have lived in Indianapolis for years

. . . they have two sons . . .

Robert is in the U. S. Navy, somewhere in the Pacific . . . Fred, who is referred to as Buck by his mother, is in the U. S. Army, somewhere in the British Isles . . .

neither of the boys ever lived here . . . but it was their mother's home town . . . and somehow that seems to mean something . . . if you don't think so, that card is the evidence . . . here it is:

"See if you can find out who the boy is in England in Buck's squadron (presumably Air Corps)

"Buck finds the paper from Washington C. H. and reads it but he can't find the boy who receives

it. He would like to know him.

Buck can't tell what town he is in but it is not London.

"We hear from Buck often but no late word from Bob since he crossed the equator."

Mrs. Rodgers would be glad to pass the message on to Buck . . .

reached through his mother . . . if you know of a boy from here you think might be the boy Buck refers to . . . I'll bet he'd be glad to meet Buck, too.

Some of you older men and women of Washington C. H. will vividly recall how mad you used to get when droves of cattle and hogs, being driven through the streets to market, suddenly decided that your front lawn was a much better place to travel over than the street, and plowed across it, sinking in nearly to their knees

during rainy weather.

I don't blame you for being so about it, for scores of lawns were virtually ruined when livestock was driven to market instead of hauled.

In those days most of the houses were fenced in as a protection against roving livestock, and those who had no fences frequently found that their neighbor's cow, horse, or hogs had made a raid on their lawn, flowers, shrubs and what have you, during the night, for it was not uncommon to see stray livestock roving about the city.

But I guess "them days have gone forever."

OHIO CAMPAIGN GROWS HEATED WITH END NEAR

Bricker and McSweeney To Meet Face to Face for Debate on Issues

COUNTRY IS APATHETIC

National Political Activities Fail To Arouse Public Preoccupied with War

(By The Associated Press)

Gov. John W. Bricker, seeking a third term and his Democratic opponent, John McSweeney, meet face-to-face today before the Cleveland City Club to debate campaign issues.

The meeting, three days before the election, climaxes a campaign, enlivened recently by charges of old age pension manipulation and personality attacks.

McSweeney told 450 Democratic women in Cincinnati last night if the city had received

"its proper share of the Bricker surplus, you would have had the money to pay city employees."

"This is just one more phase of the double taxation I have been stressing," he asserted.

Earlier he called Bricker "a professed dry who has done nothing to enforce the (liquor) law but snoop into the homes of fraternal and veterans' organizations."

"When Mr. Bricker was asked to change the working hours of 4,000 state office employees so workers at a bomber plant in Columbus would not be delayed in transportation to their various work shifts, the governor refused," McSweeney continued.

"He said this: 'it would be inconvenient.' In effect this whole war has meant nothing to Governor Bricker but an inconvenience to his political career. That is what I mean by non-cooperation in the war effort."

Bricker, in two addresses in Toledo, said he found a $40,000-

000 state debt in 1938 and had worked it into a $20,000,000 surplus.

Local governments must be preserved because democracy exists in community government, he declared, opposing a high degree of centralization in the federal administration.

George D. Nye, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, asserted at Democratic rallies in Cleveland the "safest position for the people is to elect

John McSweeney Governor. He is a strong, healthy man, a hero of the last war who will undoubtedly live many years. The present governor said a heart condition prevented his service in the last war. A man with a

COLUMBUS, Oct. 31—(AP)—

Robert S. Harsh, army liaison officer, today expressed disappointment over last night's 19-minute trial blackout of metropolitan Columbus and urged the city's defense officials to "run down" all violators.

Colonel Harsh, who viewed the 19-minute test from atop the capital's tallest building, the A.

I. U. Tower, said he could see

"plenty of violations."

Paul R. Ginger, commander of the Citizens' Defense Corps, asserted that violators would be "called in," but did not disclose taken against them.

He added that lights left burning "were primarily in business places where no one was in attendance and where air raid wardens could do nothing about it."

The city defense chief praised the speedy darkening of residential sections and said motorists and pedestrians cooperated satisfactorily.

A series of sectional blackouts preceded the test covering a 46 square mile area and affecting the 328,000 residents of Columbux, Bexley, Upper Arlington,

Grandview Heights, Marble

Cliff and Hanford.

Colonel Harsh stressed the need for more civilian defense workers and Ginger reiterated his call for an additional 20,000 volunteers.

Ohio's farm labor supply was only 42 percent of normal and the demand was 103 percent on October 1 despite wage rates paid since records were started in October 1923, the Ohio crop reporting service disclosed today.

Most critical labor shortages were reported in the Southeastern District of the state, with 36 percent of normal supply, and in the North Central region with 39 percent. The most plentiful supply was 49 percent in the East

Central region.

Ohio's daily wage rate, with board, on October 1 averaged

$2.90, compared with $2.55 on July

1 and $2.25 on October 1, 1941.

Without board, the average daily wages were $3.55 on October

1, 1942, $3.10 on July 1, 1942 and

$2.85 on October 1, 1941.

RETAILERS ANR PRICE LAWS
Reports indicate that the Office of Price Administration is now starting to crack down on violators of price ceilings. In the words of Leon Henderson, "We propose to enforce price regulations wherever it is necessary to enforce them . . . Every willful violator of price regulations, every landlord who seeks to evade rent control, every trader in black markets of goods—whatever his motive or station—challenges the war effort of the nation."

The duty of the OPA in this vital matter is clear, and the public will support strict and fair enforcement of the price rulings. At the same time, it is to be hoped that OPA enforcement officers will refrain from trying to make "examples" out of merchants who inadvertently violate the law. The price regulations are extremely complicated. As one authority on retailing has said, "It seems probable that some unintentional errors, minor violations, might be found on a minute inspection of any type of establishment." Many merchants are definitely confused, and simply don't know what price can be legally charged for certain kinds of goods.

The past record of retail merchandising has deserved and won public confidence. Both chain stores and independent stores have been aggressive fighters against price-inflation. Both have protected the interest of the consumer in every possible way—and they did that long before price ceilings were established by the OPA. It is a matter of record that very few cases of willful profiteering have been discovered. In the light of this fine record, there must be no effort or attempt to make accidental price violations appear as willful and criminal violations. The OPA must be scrupulously fair and just.

TIME RUNS SHORT
"We are still losing the war," said Assistant Secretary of the Navy Bard, recently. "And we should damn well understand it." Lieutenant General Somervell struck a similar note when he said: "If we continue to lose a little while longer, it will be too late to save ourselves, America and civilization." Anyone who will take the trouble to compare a world map of today with a world map of 1940, will agree with those authorities. The United Nations are in danger of becoming the "have not" powers. The Axis dominates a large part of

Speak well of every one if you speak of them at all—none of us are so very good.—Elbert Hubbard.

Today's Horoscope

If your birthday is today you are gentle, sensitive, unselfish and affectionate. You have ability and are keen-witted, but you must learn to assert yourself. You are too modest, too reserved. You have many friends, however. A mixed grill is prognosticated for you in the next 12 months. Gain, expected and unexpected trouble through friends or lover and loss through law, writings or travel are all foreseen for you. The child who is born on this date will have an eventful life, good and ill fortune alternating. Trouble through the opposite sex, legal matters and business generally is threatened.

Hints on Etiquette

Friends should call on the bride who is returned from her honeymoon. This is always social custom and is especially important in these times, as the bride may be alone, her husband having returned to his army or navy camp.

Horoscope for Sunday

You are resourceful, methodical and capable of meeting sudden changes in fortune and environment if you are enjoying a birthday today. The power of compelling speech and some literary talent is indicated. You are fond of pleasure and are steadfast in your affections. During the next year guard against giving offense to your employer and those in authority through carelessness, and be careful with correspondence. Elders and women folk will help you. Somewhat proud, arrogant, self-willed and obstinate will the child be who is born on this date. These traits should be eradicated early, thus minimizing the hostility they would evoke.

the world's most vital natural resources. All the Axis lacks in quantity is oil—and we have not yet made the Middle East, which possesses gigantic and fully-developed oil resources, safe from Hitler.

For that reason, it can no longer be truly said that "time works with the Allies." Time, instead, is running short. So the fact that war production in August was 14 percent behind the first-of-the-month forecasts (according to Donald Nelson) takes on a monstrous significance. Those forecasts were admittedly high. But they must be met, no matter how tough the job is.

Why Need of Water in Your Body Is Imperative

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

SCIENCE gathers its materials in unexpected places. The story of the Mutiny on the Bounty is an adventure yarn of the sea, but it is also one of the great contributions to human heredity. When we study heredity in mice we know about heredity in mice, not necessarily in human beings.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Early in human beings. It is a convenient way to study the subject because we can keep the mice up in cages and keep them from getting away and having love affairs in the open.

The mutineers of the Bounty landed on a desert island and intermarried with the natives; they were all killed but one and when discovered, he was the ancestor of everybody on the island; they had been in a cage.

So the story of the three U. S. sailors in a rubber raft floating on the Pacific for 34 days is an adventure story of the first class, but it will probably stick in the physiologists long after it has been dropped from the story books, because it is a study in metabolism.

Interesting to Physiologists

Three men were forced down in a Navy plane and found themselves in a rubber raft with nothing to eat, no water, no nothing. Oh! yes, they had a knife. As hunger began to get the better of civilized ideas, they agreed that survivors should eat the heart, liver and internal organs of the first one that died. One of them was able to spear a fish from day to day, and these were eaten raw.

After several days of blistering heat and clear weather, it rained. After that there were squalls every day. So they had water. And water was what saved them.

That is the part of the story that gets in the physiologists. What they had to eat for 34 days was probably as much as a normal adult American eats in one day of light meals. And it had no variety. They had no vitamin tablets. But they had water. And men can live for 34 days if they have water.

It is one of the very few recorded experiments to determine this point. The average reader of scientific literature has read a number of loose statements and thinks that physiology has plenty of data on the subject. . . . That fellow that was out in the desert that time. Well, what fellow who was out in what desert, what time? I was talking to a professional physiologist about this and he began to make vague statements so we started to look it up and found almost nothing. The figure of the man in the desert gets vaguer and vaguer as you track him down. No professional faster, not even Mohandas Gandhi, has been able to stand the torture of a fast without water.

The fluid in the body is distributed in the blood (5 per cent), the fluid loose between tissues (15 per cent) and the fluid inside cells (80 per cent). So 70 per cent of your body—105 pounds of a 150-pound man—is water. The body loses water at the rate of 4 1/2 pints a day, even in winter. The water in the body performs all sorts of functions—distributes foods in solutions, salts, carries waste products from the kidneys and lungs, regulates heat.

We need it badly. If you don't believe it, get on a rubber raft in the middle of the Pacific without it.

Road to Romance

CHAPTER TWENTY—
"MARY, YOUR roommate's on the phone." Mary nodded thanks to Jane and left the nervous young man signing up for his first job, scribbling furiously at her desk. Fran was trying to keep excitement from her voice. "Are you coming straight home from work tonight?" "Why, no. Ken wants me to go bowling with a gang from his department." "Well, tell him to go jump in the lake—by himself," said Fran. "I have something to tell you." Mary promised, and went back to her desk. What on earth could have happened that Fran refused to discuss it over the phone? She was thankful once again that she was dealing with people these days instead of typing cards. She could push her own problems into the background in the urgency of theirs. She did not brood over Fran's message as she once would have done, in fearful hope. It was not until she was riding home through the cold, moonlight night that she began to lose her calm in a feeling of excitement. She almost ran the short block from the bus to the apartment. Fran met her at the door. She looked mischievous and happy. "Come out to the kitchen," she said. "We're having a midnight snack." "A snack?" gasped Mary as she followed Fran through the dark living room into the warm, lighted kitchen, to see scrambled eggs, toast and coffee steaming hot on the table. "What is it, Thanksgiving?" "It is," said Fran firmly. "Sit down. We've got things to talk about." Mary found she was famished. The strenuous evening's work, topped off by the bus ride and walk in the cold, brisk air, had given her a keen appetite. She was half through her scrambled eggs before Fran had reached the point in her story where she had eavesdropped at the door of Toinette's bungalow. "I know it was her publicity agent, Link Jackson," Fran said, "because he's been around the set a lot. In fact, Toinette introduced us the other day. He was plenty peevish at her. And he said, 'You'll go to Ciro's tonight—and Bruce Martin will like it! You picked him, now it's up to you to handle him.' Mary's coffee cup remained half-way to her lips, as she stared at Fran with a puzzled frown. "What on earth—" "Then," Fran said, "he went on

New Sub Chasers Turn Trick on Nazis

ABOARD DESTROYER LEADER.

CONVOY ESCORT TO PANAMA. A recent date --(P)-- More supplies and equipment have been delivered -- through submarine treacherous waters--to Panama for the defenders of the vital Panama Canal.

That's the sum-up as a U.S. Navy's task force escorts a good-sized convoy into port after a trip free of any skirmish with Axis underwater raiders.

For this task unit leader--a destroyer--it keeps intact a record of hundreds of ships conveyed safely, not a single ship lost -- in upwards of a half-year of escort duty in many sectors.

It is proof once again that the U.S. is clearing the blue Caribbean of the menace of Nazi U-boats, and that supplies now are steaming safely to the points where they will do the most good.

Back in June, Axis submarine moved their major activity from Atlantic to Caribbean and for the first two weeks of the month they sent United Nations cargo ships beneath the waves at a rate of more than one a day. Five ships were lost in a single day.

Then convoying was introduced to this area and the enemy subs found the tables turning.

Axis U-boats still patrol the area--two were sighted within range of this convoy while it was at sea--but the raiders have shown little interest in attacking a convoy protected by warships armed with depth-charges.

It would appear that most of the subs are playing a game of watchful waiting for the few unescorted ships that still venture into these waters alone.

The secret of success in convoying is eternal vigilance--mixed with clever planning.

The new, highly-maneuverable and scrappy little "baby tin-cans"--the PC-type submarine chasers are playing a big role in this convoy assignment. Shorter than their big brother destroyers, and narrower of beam, the PC's--even in the Caribbean--do enough rolling, pitching and pivoting to provide first-class simulation of such Coney Island thrills as the whip, the airplane swing and the roller-coaster--all rolled into one.

But it's the PC's shortness and its ability to pivot in no time flat that makes it such poison to Axis U-boats.

The PC carries all the anti-submarine armament of the destroyer and all of the detection equipment. Picking up an underwater contact it can wheel over its target in breath-taking time to loose a wide-splattering pattern of depth charges.

Washington at a Glance

By Charles P. Stewart

Ramon Castillo granted, with considerable reason, that they were welcome to do whatever they pleased under the Castillo regime, these folk probably became so obvious with their activities as to have become troublesome even to the neutrality-wedded administration.

However, it may have been rather willing to make a few examples, for the rest of the Americas' edification. Being one of the only two new world nations not to have at least broken relations with the Axis powers, not to mention declaring outright war, like a number of the others, certainly got the Buenos Aires rulership unpleasantly talked about throughout the Western Hemisphere. With Chile similarly situated, possibly this wasn't so bad.

Chile Getting Tough

Now, though, Chilean President Juan Antonio Rios is cracking down so vigorously upon Axis representatives on his side of the Andes as to give the impression that he's about to join the Pan-American majority, leaving Argentina rather too conspicuously alone to be comfortable. President Rios has sided with the anti-Axis democracies all along anyway, but he only lately was elected. Then State Undersecretary Sumner Welles fretted him severely by referring to Chile, along with Argentina, as a Latin America area in which, due to neutrality, Axis spies, he said, were permitted to operate troublesomely. Nevertheless, irritated though he evidently was by Sumner's remark, the Santiago executive is losing no time in slapping an extinguisher upon Axis espionage.

Assuming that he plans an early break of Chilean relations with the German-Italian-Jap trio, he'll be leaving President Castillo without a new world partner, and it's conceivable that the latter doesn't like the prospect.

The Argentine chief isn't pro-Axis or pro-German on sentimental grounds, either.

In private life he's a land baron and the Argentine soil and climate produce almost exactly the same crop of livestock that the United States does, so that there's no market here for his stuff, whereas it's in great demand throughout the Axis generally and in Germany in particular.

Argentina's aristocracy is mainly agricultural or grazing. Consequently it's predominantly pro-Axis, for business reasons. And President Castillo belongs to it. In the big cities, though, like Buenos Aires and Rosario, there are industrial and financial interests which have ties with us Yankees, and that makes them favorable to our cause, especially against the Germans, who don't supply them with much nourishment.

Pressure Applied

Well, President Castillo, coming from out in the sticks, with his big rural landlord's complex, into manufacturing and banking Buenos Aires, is liable to have had strong local pressure to bear on, since his arrival, to modify his ideas. Incidentally, it is possible that it was pretty imperative pressure. It wouldn't be unprecedented for a united Buenos Aires group to upset a national Argentine administration. Later, perhaps the ruralists, being in a countrywide majority, might, after quite a campaign, reverse matters. That, however, wouldn't be any great consolation to the ousted executive, after he'd been attacked by the immediate revolutionaries.

There's another item to be taken into consideration.

Isn't it imaginable that President Castillo has decided, in his own mind, that the Axis is due to be licked by the democracies despite his economic preferences? In that theory it personally behooves him to shape his Argentine course accordingly, and lose no time in doing so. If so, his apparent switch democracyward and away from the Axis, is a favorable military democratic indication, for he's an astute guesser and, as previously observed, sentiment doesn't influence him.

From Yankee standpoint, other Latin-American countries do not count as the Argentine does. They can sell their products to us (because we need their particular kinds of them) more conveniently and profitably than they can sell them to the Axis aggregation. So they're our allies, naturally.

Mrs. Leo Fedigan Is Hostess to Lovely Party

Always a charming hostess, with her entertaining of the greatest pleasures, Mrs. Leo P. Fedigan added a lovely party to the week's social calendar, when she invited a small group of friends to her home Friday evening.

With lovely combinations of fall flowers arranged at every point of vantage, the attractive home was perfect for the group of smartly gowned ladies.

Progressive bridge and hearts was enthusiastically played, doubly enjoyed with the numerous pleasures added by the gracious hostess. Lovely awards were presented to Mrs. Hoy O. Simons, Mrs. Lee Salisbury and Mrs. M. J. Whitfield.

A very tempting and most delicious course was served at the dining table, which was a picture of beauty. The table was effectively decorated with fall leaves of radiant hues, pumpkins and gourds, and the entire room lighted by jack o'lanterns.

The combining of a delicious dessert course and an exceptionally merry time, prolonged the hour around the table.

Other guests were Mrs. J. J. Kelley, Mrs. W. S. Paxson, Mrs. Ormond Dewey, Mrs. Frank Jackson, Mrs. Otis Morrow, Miss Elizabeth Shoop and Mrs. Robert Edg.

Marilyn Griffith Is Hostess to Gay Supper-Party

Among the Hallowe'en parties one of the jolliest and prettiest was entertained by Miss Marilyn Griffith, when she included a group of exceptionally close school friends, Friday evening.

Hallowe'en decorations of candles, pumpkin and yellow flowers combined to form an attractive setting for the gay party.

After the delicious supper of favorite delicacies, dancing at the G.A.R. rounded out the evening's fun.

The mother of the young hostess, Mrs. Ray Griffith assisted in the evening's pleasures to which Misses Marianne Craig, Betty Robinson, Elda Jane Mossbarger, Pat Nisley, Dotty McGinnis and Claire McDonald were invited.

Party For Mrs. Cramer

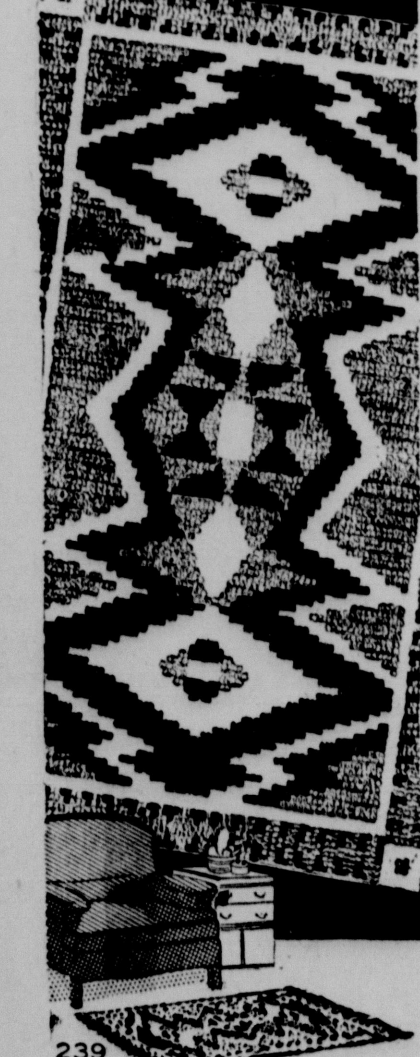

VFW Auxiliary members met at the home of Mrs. Allan Sells Friday evening for a delightful Hallowe'en party, honoring Mrs. Thelma Cramer, who is leaving for her new home in Springfield.

Everyone came masked, which added to the gayety of the evening in the effectively decorated home.

Mrs. G. A. Handley presented the honor guest with several lovely farewell gifts from the members.

A delicious supper was served late in the evening, for which the long table was centered with a bouquet of fall aster in multi-colored hues.

Billie Grimm Is Given Party On Sixth Birthday

A jolly party entertained Friday afternoon by Mrs. Glenn Grim, complimented her young son, Billie, on his sixth birthday.

Sixteen young tots romped through the afternoon of games and contests and had a most hilarious time. A peanut hunt was particularly enjoyed, and other contests pleasurably played.

Master Billie opened his assortment of gifts, which brought to him many clever and useful articles.

A large birthday cake centered the dining table, for the serving of the party refreshments at the close of the afternoon. Favors of Hallowe'en suggestions were given to each little person.

Seated with the young host were Ann Hyer, Patty and Nancy Hurtt, Myrna Redden, Janet Ann McCord, Franchen Saunders, Judy Gilley, Ann Dews, Jimmy Newbrey, Richard Tracey, Jackie and Donnie Hoagland, Teddy Clark, Donny Gilley, Joe Severs and Billy Shaw.

Mrs. Grimm was assisted by Mrs. William Clark, Mrs. Earl Dunaway, Mrs. Nelson Hoagland, Mrs. Mac Dews, and Mrs. Charles Hurtt.

Marita Craig Gives Party for Tandra Group

With an unusually hilarious party, Miss Marita Craig entertained the Tandra Campfire Girls for a Hallowe'en party Friday evening.

The spacious living room of the Craig home was gaily decorated with orange and black streamers and with numerous pumpkin faces.

Dancing and games were interrupted when the group went "begging," causing a jolly interval.

The fifteen young girls were served doughnuts and apple cider during the evening, with the group leader, Mrs. Richard P. Rankin and Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Craig assisting the young hostess.

Ladies' Country Club Party
Mrs. Max G. Dice will be the chairman for the regular ladies' luncheon bridge at the Washington Country Club on next Thursday, and will have as her assisting committee, Mrs. Rose Hughey, Mrs. C. D. Young and Miss Dorothy Gault.

Trio of Hostesses Entertain with Hallowe'en Party

The Town Hall at Bloomington was transformed into a typical Hallowe'en setting on Friday evening, when Misses Donna M. Purcell, Barbara Baughn and Ann Emery were hostesses to a very gay party.

Thirty young people gathered for a hilarious evening, for which the young hostesses had made complete plans for a jolly time.

In each corner and effective points in the room, fodder shocks were arranged, with piles of straw adding to the decorations. Huge pumpkin faces illuminated the room and orange and black streamers hung overhead.

The affair was one of entire merriment, with a scavenger hunt launching the evening's many pleasures. Prizes for the hunt were awarded to Mary K. Foster and Roy Hagler, and Doris Brandenburg and Jim Boylan, who were first to complete the lists of unusual and most unique suggestions.

Dancing and games until a late hour, were enjoyed by the young folks.

At one end of the long room, a table was prettily decorated with All Hallow's Eve suggestions. Tall yellow candles lighted the table, which was centered with a large dish of candy corns, witches and pumpkins. Other refreshments so popular at this time, were enjoyed by Misses Gretchen Baughn, Mary K. Foster, Blain Templin, Mary Alice Foster, Doris Brandenburg, Helen Cramton, Edna Mae Lininger, Esther Rapp, Eleanor Hopkins, Lois Kennel, Nancy Crawford, Lois Houseman and Mr. Harold Moyer, Roy Hagler, Junior Holdren, Malcolm Jett, Jim Boylan, Jim Hutton, Donald Walston, Floyd Brown, Wilbur Rapp, Carl Scott, Carl Craig and Kermit Kellogg, Chas. Sexton, Charles Andrews and Jim Hunter.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Baughn, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Purcell and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Emery assisted throughout the evening.

Maple Grove WSCS Met with Mrs. Rowland

Maple Grove WSCS Met with Mrs. Rowland

Mrs. Leora Rowland very graciously opened her home to the Maple Grove WSCS on Wednesday, for a most pleasurable meeting.

Mrs. Ruth Moon conducted the devotional services, and then read an appropriate poem. Miss Clara Rowland gave the scripture, followed by "The Story," by Mrs. Lee Clifton.

Twenty-two members and ten guests enjoyed the very delicious collation served at the close of the afternoon.

Adding to the pleasures were the numerous bouquets of fall flowers, arranged most artistically.

The next meeting will be an election of officers, and will be held at the home of Mrs. Ruth Acton.

Ellis Island Meeting

The November meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution to be held on Monday afternoon, will have the Martha Washington Junior Chapter presenting the program. It will be the Ellis Island meeting of the year, with the contributions for this cause accepted during the meeting.

Mrs. Bertha Smith is chairman of the hostesses.

Cecilian Club

The meeting of the Cecilian Club will be held in the Federated Club rooms on Tuesday, with a well planned program to be presented by Mrs. Paul Fitzwater, chairman. The hostesses will be Miss Lillian Teeters and Mrs. Eugene L. Smith.

COMING FEATURES AT THE THEATERS

Laughter, music and romance dominate the pictures to be shown at the Washington C. H. theaters next week. Although there will be thrills and Westerns to be sure, laughter is the keynote.

Palace Theater
Ginger Rogers has her most unusual role in the hilarious comedy "Roxy Hart," to be shown at the Palace Theater on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. In the title role of this low down story of a high class gal, Ginger goes on trial for murder, engages in a knock down fight with Helene Reynolds and dances the black bottom and Charleston in jail. Adolphe Menjou is engaged as the high pressure mouthpiece to save Ginger from the chair. The second feature of the double bill "Texas Manhunt," is a Western with Bill Boyd, Art Davis and Lee Powell.

Assigned to a dangerous mission
Washington C. H., Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brown and son, of Fairview, Miss Katherine Saltz, of New Holland, Mr. and Mrs. Mathew McDonald and children, of Staunton, Mrs. Roxie Haines and sons, and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Finley, of Good Hope.

Gleaner Class Party
The Gleaners Class of the North Street Church of Christ enjoyed a Hallowe'en party in the church basement on Thursday evening. There was a splendid representation of the class members in attendance, who admired the effectively decorated room, which had been transformed into a weird and spooky scene, symbolic of Hallowe'en.

Most entertaining games were eagerly participated in, with prizes presented to several members.

The business meeting was held with the president, Miss Mary Lois Grim, presiding. The election of officers resulted in president, Wilma Peacock, vice-president, Lois Peacock, secretary, Betty Ann Johnson, and treasurer, Mary Ellen Johnson.

Refreshments, suggestive of the occasion were served at the close of the evening, to the members and their guests who were Betty Jane Hurley, Emma Jean Henry, Lois Henry and the teacher, Mrs. Herman Dove.

Plans for Annual Farm Bureau Meeting Are Announced

Importance of Getting Out
Vote Is Stressed

At the annual meeting of the Fayette Farm Bureau Thursday evening, November 5 at Memorial Hall, out of county speakers will include two neighboring Farm Bureau leaders from Clinton County.

The main address will be given by Arthur Hoverland, organization director of the Clinton County Farm Bureau for the past four years. Hoverland and his cooperative leaders have built up a membership in Clinton County of over 600. He is well known as a public speaker having served as a minister before taking up work in the field of cooperation and organization in the Farm Bureau.

The other speaker will be Robert Peelle, trustee of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, representing the 19th District which includes Fayette, Clinton, Greene and Montgomery counties. This will be the first public appearance of Peelle before a Farm Bureau group in the county since his trusteeship began nearly a year ago.

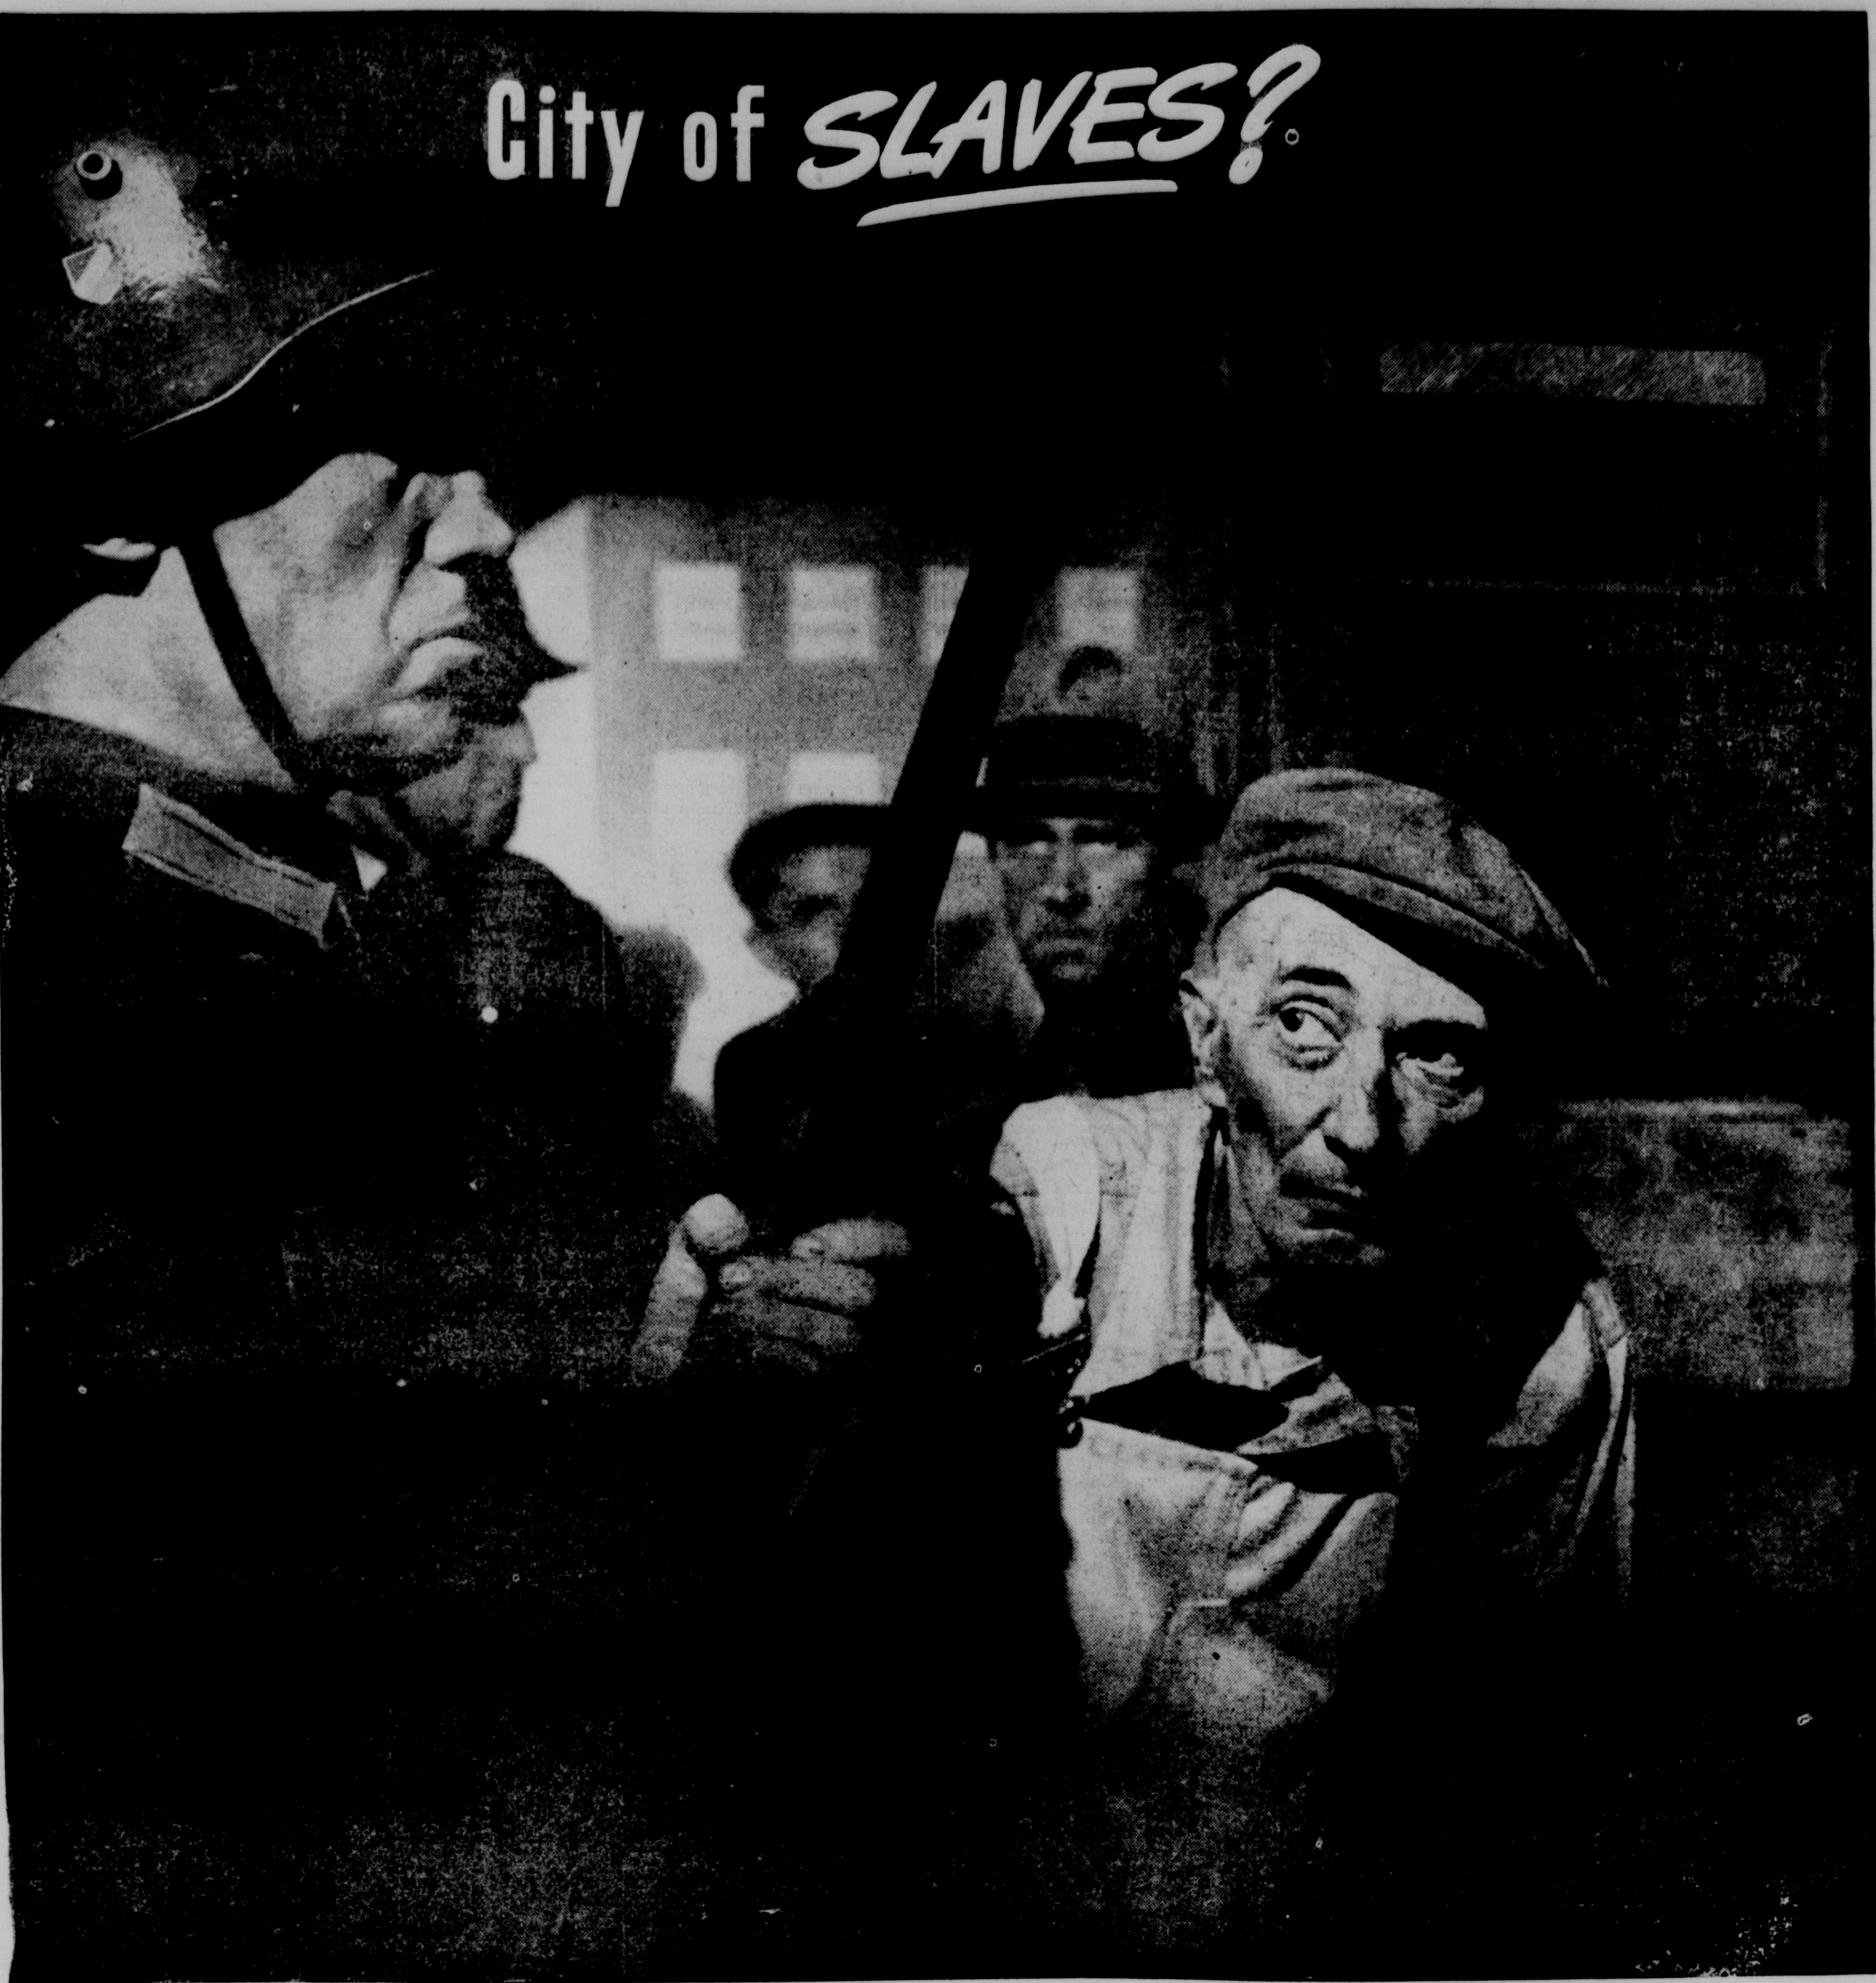

Fayette County will be entitled to two delegates to the State Annual Meeting which will be held November 18, 19 and 20 at Columbus and these will be elected at the annual meeting.

Invitations have gone out to all Farm Bureau families in the county asking them to "share the ride" with their neighbors in coming to the annual meeting and each family will participate in the refreshment program by bringing a pie.

The entire second and third floors of Memorial Hall will be utilized for the annual meeting with the general speaking and business part of the meeting being held in the auditorium and the recreation period and refreshments taking place on the third floor.

KILLED BY CORN PICKER
MARION, Oct. 31—(P)—Claude L. Cates' coat became entangled in a corn picker and he was killed.

There are about 120,000 blind persons in the United States.

DO NOT BE MISLED

The only criticism of State financing which I have offered in this campaign, has been directed toward the creation of a huge surplus in the State Treasury, which has accumulated from the collection of Taxes formerly allocated back to Local Subdivisions.

In the first three years of this administration, Townships, Cities, Villages and Counties received $36,000,000.00.

In this same period the Schools of Ohio received $160,918,149.24.

Had the laws which governed the Sales Tax and various other Taxes not been changed, Townships, Cities, Villages and Counties in Ohio would have received $49,115,632.57.

The State School Fund would have received $176,544,532.12.

The difference between the amounts actually received by Local Subdivisions and that which would have been received had the laws not been changed is $28,782,015.45.

I contend that this money rightfully belongs to the Subdivisions of this State, and if elected to represent you, I will vote to put it where it belongs.

My opponent accuses me of being a great promiser.

What have I promised?

First, to work for an equitable distribution of Tax money.

Second, to defend Local Government against loss of self government.

Third, to place the Administration of Aid for the Aged on a non-partisan basis.

Fourth, to seek the counsel and advice of my constituents on legislation affecting Fayette County.

As a candidate, could you not promise as much?

What has my opponent promised?

The only thing that I have been able to determine, is that he will assist in continuing to build up the surplus in the State Treasury while your Local Governments are issuing bonds and voting levies to maintain operations.

IF WE LOSE THIS WAR . . . and blindness can lose it, American labor suffers total blackout. The conquering Axis overran Poland, Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, Norway, the Phillipines and Malaya. The conquered working man became the slave of his masters. Working conditions? You don't complain to a storm trooper! Overtime? Don't be ridiculous!

The American working man, say the voices of this New Order, will work for the "herrenvolk," the master class—14 hours, 18 hours, dependent upon how much the swine can take! Earnings? Enough to keep them alive!

Mr. Working Man, the Axis says your union has "profaned democracy." The Axis has turned its guns and dive bombers on your union card. If other Americans will die to keep you a free man, will you save a dime from every dollar to help them? Now is the time to pledge at least 10% of your earnings in the coming year to War Bonds—your guarantee that forever—wherever Old Glory flies, working men can bargain for their rights, walk standing up, live like men!

Ohio and Wisconsin Hold Football Spotlight

-Spying- On Sports

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(P)—There's many a slip—which is about as good a way as any to sum up the prospects for the big-league hockey season that gets started tonight. Nobody knows how it will end, but you can figure that its showing will be a good indication of the future of baseball and other sports. For instance, with about 40 percent of last year's players already in the armed forces, hockey clubs are loading up with guys like Ebbie Goodfellow and Sweeney Schirmer, who either had retired or were about to; they're using former third-stringers and minor leaguers in some of the more important spots and bringing in as many 17 and 18 year old rookies as they can.

Today's Guest Star

Kenneth Jones, Peoria (Ill.) Journal-Transcript: "An unbeaten football team is one that is living on borrowed time."

Tip on Today's Georgia-Alabama game: Wally Butts, Georgia coach, never has lost twice to the same team—and Alabama beat the Crackers last year. Called upon to tell New York football writers something about his old high-school coaching rival, Paul Brown of Ohio State, Ensign Larry Gligor of the Manhattan Beach Coast Guard told them what a great guy he is, then concluded: "I'd still like to be associated with a team that knocks the socks off him." Praise Brown and pass the ammunition.

Massillon Tigers Run Win String To Fifty Games

MASSILLON, Oct. 31.—(P)—The Tigers of Massillon Washington High School have run their string of gridiron victories to 50.

The latest victims, 32 to 0, were the Warren Harding High Presidents. Left Halfback Bob Graber and Right Halfback Keve Bray each got a pair of touchdowns. Quarterback Cardinal had one, and although Fullback Chuck Holt's only scoring was a pair of extra points, he outgained the entire Harding team from scrimmage.

Pheasants Come Long Way to Ohio

The several thousand of pheasants in Fayette County at the present time are descendants of birds brought from China in 1881.

As a matter of fact most Ohio pheasants are a mixture of three or more closely related pheasants native to Asia. The black pheasant, or melanistic mutant, is a product of the state game farms and is simply a black variety of the ringneck or ordinary pheasants. So far as known there are no black ones in Fayette County, but their numbers are increasing in some other Ohio counties.

A vast cave that may rival the Carlsbad caverns exists near Essex, California, and is being explored.

Lt. Fred Pierson at Key West; Lions Win Pleases Old Coach

Lieutenant Fred Pierson, USN, who had a hand in giving the Blue Lions some of the fundamentals they are putting to such good use this year for their new coaches, Jerry Kissell and George Miraben, before he enlisted in the U. S. Navy is now in the office of captain of the port at Key West, Fla., according to the Coast Guard stationery used in a letter just received from him.

Lt. Pierson went into the physical training branch of the coast guard and took a special course of training to fit him for that work but apparently that is secondary to his principal duties in the office.

In his letter, he said "after

BIG TEN TITLE MAY BE DECIDED; EACH UNBEATEN

Bucks, Rated No. 1 Outfit of Country, Slight Favorites in Crucial Game

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 31.—(P)—The Western Conference's only undefeated football teams this season—Ohio State and Wisconsin—clashed today and with victory went the role of favorite to capture the Big Ten title. A crowd of about 40,000 was expected for the game, one of the nation's top attractions. The game was the 13th between the two eleven.

The Badgers, seeking their first win over the Buckeyes, the Nation's No. 1 eleven, since 1918, banked on Sophomore Elroy Hirsch and fullback Pat Harder, both of whom have been handicapped by ailments.

Gene Fekete, one of the country's highest scorers, and his backfield partner, Paul Sarringhaus, were depended upon to power Ohio State to its fourth conference win, and its sixth straight victory of the season.

Harry Stuhldreher, Wisconsin coach, conceded nothing to the Buckeyes.

"We're ready," he exclaimed.

"The team that gets the breaks is going to win—and we mean to get them."

"We came here knowing it would be a tough contest and if we lose we will know that Wisconsin is better than we are," asserted Coach Paul Brown of Ohio State.

Brown said his squad was in first rate condition, but that Dante Lavelli, first string end, would not start and might not play due to the injury that has kept him on the sidelines since the Southern California game three weeks ago.

Anticipating a thrilling contest, Wisconsin homecoming rosters last night staged a celebration described by veteran police officers as the wildest in many years.

Twenty-six persons were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct and malicious destruction of property and officers reported laying down 33 tear gas barrages in their efforts to disperse the celebrants marching from the campus to Capitol Square.

Mauriello - Bivins Fight May Decide 'Duration Champ'

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(P)—Boxing's war-time "duration champ" of the heavyweights probably will come out of a November 27 Madison Square Garden bout between Tami Mauriello and Jimmy Bivins.

While Mauriello showed plenty of power in the stretch to overhaul the tiring Des Moines veteran Lee Savold, in the last two heats, with a ten-round decision in the Garden last night and get the shot with Bivins, he didn't uncover anything that puts him in Joe Louis' league yet.

traveling down the coast, I finally landed at Key West," but not without some stops en route. He was sent from Ft. McHenry to Miami, Fla., for a four-week course in submarine chasing tactics.

At Key West, his letter, said he is assistant captain and in charge of operations, recreation and welfare in addition to sea duty as skipper on a patrol boat in the main channel. Further details about his work are withheld under the voluntary censorship which the newspapers of the country have undertaken in wartime.

"We all have a job to do, no matter where we are sent," he wrote after branching off into

CLEO COLA BOYS CLIMB INTO TIE WITH WARNERS

Ladies League Bowling Race Tightens Up With Tie at Top of Standing

The Cleo Cola boys climbed into a tie with the Warner Service crew at the top of the Industrial Bowling League last week by virtue of a three-game win while the past week was one of upsets for the Ladies League.

The Warners managed to take two out of three to hold a 667 percentage ranking and the Albers Market outfit which shared the top spot with them a week ago dropped into third place. The Pioneers took two out of three and got out of the cellar, which they occupied a week ago with the Pennington Bakers, and are now tied for fourth place with the Pure Pointers.

The Montgomery Ward girls, who were undefeated in the first six games, took a two out of three beating and dropped into a tie with the Hawkinson Treaders. Light's Dairymaids also lost two out of three and skidded into a third place tie with the Craig Air Steppers, with whom they were racing a dead heat at the end of the first two weeks of bowling.

Lloyd's Market raised their average but could not climb in the standing and the Business and Professional Women and Gradale Betas remained in a tie, just as they were last week, although they both bettered their averages. The Farmerettes are still at the bottom without a win.

Army Doesn't Want Tut Jackson Too Old, Ex-Prize Fighter Told

The army doesn't want Tut Jackson's 200-plus pounds of brawn—not just yet, anyway. Tut went to Fort Hayes to volunteer his services but was told that he was "too old." He was 42 last month.

Tut said he applied for enlistment in the quartermaster corps in the hope that he could get into the army's broad physical training program. But, he said he was told that there were no openings for enlistment except for men between the ages of 18 and 21 years and those with technical skills that would qualify them for service with the air forces. Tut had two letters of introduction and recommendation from high ranking army officers attesting his character and ability as a professional boxer. He was very proud of those letters and made no attempt to conceal it and, although he said the officers with whom he talked were "just fine" to him and were obviously impressed with his letters, there was nothing they could do about it.

Tut grinned broadly as he said: "Well, I guess I can get in if I just sit around and wait on the draft." He is sure he can pass any physical examination—where his age is no bar.

He's not interested in a commission. He doesn't care what branch of the service he gets in. And, he has no objection to waiting on the draft, except that he wants to have a "few rounds with a Jap or a Heinie" and it makes no difference to him which it is. There's just one thing he's thinking about and that doesn't disturb him in the least. He said: "I'll 'bout wind will make a shortage of good cattle.

prices. Winter is approaching when the marketward movement increases and the price skids are greased to send values down. Between scares of bear raids, labor scarcity, and distrust of what the future has in store, coupled with official announcement that current prices are too high, failure of the OPA to deny that at present no price ceiling exists on pork, and constant reiteration that a heavy marketward movement impends, growers are confused.

Meat rationing is an accomplished fact, although as yet in the voluntary stage. No ration cards have been issued. Actually the domestic population is getting just what beef and pork is allotted to distributors at the packing house and what is more it is getting the cuts the rationers please to give them. This will be intensified when regular and official rationing goes into effect. Each week domestic consumers will get less pork and probably beef. In this writer's opinion "rationing" will more nearly control the low of supply and demand than any other agency.

Cattle prices are advancing. Washington shows alarm over possible reduced production next year. It announces that the movement of stock cattle is considerably less than in previous years. Recently a western farm journal made a survey of the cattle on feed in Indiana and Illinois, based on reports from several hundred representative farms. While merely a cross section is showed a deficiency of 44 percent compared with the corresponding period of 1941. Cattle prices are highly remunerative. But throughout the corn belt, cattle in auction sales bringing $14, the same grade and weight are topping in Chicago at $16.50 and $17.

Current slaughter is being maintained by conversion of low yielding milk cows into beef. The dual purpose cow producing both beef and milk is having an inning. Demand for beef cows is insatiable, many growers selling their herds short. The coming steer and heifer crop will be out of a lot of nondescript and penny royal bulls being too thin to kill, and men are buying them and putting them on grass for the growth and gain they may acquire, while bull of breeding, quality and flesh are being sacrificed to the butcher, a situation that in the future football at Washington C. H. as he knew it from reading the Record-Herald.

"The team seems to be doing O. K.," he said in his letter and added it "made me feel good when the boys beat Greenfield." He closed by assuring the contributors to the USO fund in the two money-raising efforts here that the organization is "very active."

Third-Stringer Blossoms Into Star at Notre Dame

CLEVELAND, Oct. 31.—(P)—Returning to his Notre Dame coaching duties after a 17-day treatment in the Mayo clinic, Frank Leahy found that the boy he left behind in the bud had blossomed into a star.

The fellow has become such a spark that the Irish, running through light workouts in preparation for their 16th meeting here tomorrow with Navy, swings along with a new battle cry—let's hustle with Russell.

Russell Gilman Ashbaugh, Jr., about as tall as a fireplug, was hiked into the Iowa Seahawk's game two weeks ago after injuries had wiped away two halfbacks who stood before him. The fireplug began gushing—he passed, he caught passes, he ran, the result was a 28 to 0 Notre Dame victory.

Last week against Illinois, Ashbaugh's 40-yard punt return set up the tying touchdown, and his interception of a pass in the fading minutes ended a strong Illinois threat.

Russell's father was on Walter Camp's second all-America team at Brown in 1911 and later was a coach at a Youngstown, O., high school. His mother was a basketball captain of a women's team at Pittsburgh.

Russell's ambition is to score a touchdown.

Advance ticket sales have passed the 70,000 mark and some predictions are that the contest will draw 80,000 persons.

Pimlico Futurity Draws 4 Starters

BALTIMORE, Oct. 31.—(P)—A compact field of four classy two-year-old colts, led by Occupation, was scheduled to face starter Jim Milton in the 20th running of the rich Pimlico Futurity today. The last major purse of the juvenile season.

Early wagering indicated that Occupation, from the stables of John Marsch of Chicago, would go to the post a short-priced favorite of an army emergency relief day crowd.

Second in the early odds was Mrs. John D. Hertz's Count Fleet.

Pheasants $400 Each
DAYTON, Oct. 31.—(P)—A fine of $400 each was imposed upon Steve Kender, Sr., and his son, John, by Municipal Judge M. E. Schlafman for unlawful possession of five pheasants.

But, it was the start, rather than the end, of Tut's leather-slashing adventures. From then until he hung up his gloves in 1934, he met and beat such greats and near-greats as Johnny Risko and Tiger Flowers. He doesn't know how many fights he has had. As a money-making proposition, the fight game has not been profitable to Tut, but he's not complaining. He loves the sport and a good fight—and he's the last to say he would change it if he had it to do over again.

He has been working for the J. P. Burke Monument Co. on South Fayette Street heaving big blocks of marble and granite around. Decidedly, he has not "gone soft" since he retired from the fight game.

The boss took him to Fort Hayes, much as he would hate to lose him to the army.

OATS S. J. Hamilton, of the Belfast community, Hillsboro R.F.D. 2 recently told about his experience raising oats. "I like to sow in February or just as early in March as I can," he said. Then he told me that he had drilled in oats when the ground was not thawed out all the way down, and got along all right.

"The thing you've got to do to raise oats is to get them out early enough so there will be plenty of moisture, when most of the growth is being made, "he pointed out," and if you don't do that, and the weather turns off dry, your oats will be short and the yield will be down."

Mr. Hamilton is still raising Big Type Poland China Hogs and pure bred Percheron horses. He has been in this business a long time, but he is still very enthusiastic about it.

Dispatches from the battlefield said the eight-day-old British offensive had won and held all objectives set for it in the first week. Strongly supported by U. S. Italian field headquarters said the fighting dwindled yesterday but declared that British light cars "which attempted an incursion in our rear were promptly routed and destroyed."

Russia — Outnumbered Soviet troops were reported holding today after three successive retreats on the Nalchik Plateau, gateway to the key Georgian military highway in the heart of the Caucasus mountains, while on the Stalingrad front the Germans again hammered in vain at Red Army defenses.

Bitter all-night fighting raged amid the ruins of Stalingrad, and at noon the Soviet command reported that the defenders had killed 1,100 Germans and balked all Nazi attempts to expand their invasion salient toward the Volga.

On the Black Sea coast, the Russians reported they had killed another 1,000 Axis troops in sea-saw fighting for the western Caucasus.

DAY'S ACTIVITIES IN WALL STREET NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(P)—Small fractional advances predominated in today's early stock market proceedings.

Those favoring merchandising securities noted the summary of the Commerce Department which placed retail sales in September at $4,879,000,000, second only to the record month of December, 1941.

A constructive indicator was seen in compilations of manufacturing and wholesale members of the Chicago Association of Credit Men disclosing collections throughout the United States in the past month were the best in 20 years.

and publishing branch, that the freeze order "would not be the end of curtailment" indicated that a cut in production might be undertaken later.

JEFFERSONVILLE SHARE THE RIDE CLUB IS FORMED

Alvin G. Little Is Named Administrator for New Club

Mayor Roman Wright, of Jeffersonville, has followed up the suggestion of the Ohio War Transportation Committee to form a "share the ride" club, and this has been done, with the result that it is already functioning and meeting a genuine need.

Alvin G. Little has been appointed Local Administrator for the share the ride plan in the Jeffersonville community, and Eldon Long and Charles Funk as co-administrators. C. M. Borning has been named co-administrator for conservation of man power, through safety and publicity.

With a great percentage of the working population of Jeffersonville driving to Patterson and Wright fields, Dayton and other nearby points, the need to assist and coordinate all transportation has become apparent and this need will be increased as time goes on.

All defense workers who are driving out of town to work are urged to obtain a questionnaire at either the Jeffersonville Auto Co., Stuckey's Hardware, Sharret Sinclair filling station, or Alvin G. Little Funeral Home. The questionnaires will give the time and place of employment and mode of transportation. All information will then be compiled for future needs to assist workers with transportation problems.

It has also been urged that all automobile shopping and business trips from Jeffersonville and surrounding community to Washington C. H., and other points be reported to Stuckey's Hardware or Jeffersonville Auto Company in plenty of time prior to the actual trip. These reports will assist other individuals who wish to make the same journey.

The Share the Ride Plan is to help all, and the fullest cooperation from every individual will greatly assist the workings of the Share the Ride Plan.

NAVAL ENLISTMENTS OPEN TO MEN IN 1-A

Slump in Volunteers Here Blamed on Confusion

Enlistments in the navy have hit a slump here, W. H. Donald, CEM, USN, recruiter in charge of the station at Chillicothe for this district said Saturday, and laid the responsibility to a misunderstanding.

"There has been some confusion," he said, "about the enlistment of men registered for selective service and classified as 1-A."

There have been no changes in enlistment regulations, he declared, which permit men in 1-A to volunteer for the navy and naval reserve without release from their local draft boards.

Men who have received notice to report for induction into the army, Donald said, can still enlist in the navy, provided their enlistment is completed prior to the date set for their induction.

Young men in Washington C. H. and Fayette County who are interested in the navy can get full information regarding possibilities for advancements, pay and trade training from him, Donald said, when he comes to Washington C. H. every Friday. He is at the fire department from 10:30 A. M. until late afternoon.

CHANGE IS MADE IN 1-B VOTING PLACE

A last minute change in one of the city's 18 voting places was announced Saturday morning by the board of elections.

Elections in precinct B of the first ward are to go to the residence of Patrolman Allen Sells, 713 East Temple Street, instead of to that of Virgil Mitchem, at 702, on the same street, Robert Meriweather, clerk of the board, said. The two places, he added, are less than a block apart but are on opposite sides of the street. The new voting place is on the south side of the street.

RETURNED BY WARRANT
GREENFIELD — Maurice Allen, recently dismissed by Board of Education, was returned here by warrant from Columbus on charge of withholding or destroying financial records of school activities.

COLLISION INJURES SIX
HILLSBORO — Clark Curtis, truck driver, arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated, when his truck collided with passenger car, injuring six persons.

MADISON GROUP HOLDS MEETING

Boy Scout Troop Discussed And Candidates Are Initiated

At the regular meeting of Madison Good Will Grange, T. H. Craig, Jr., and Harold Laymon of Washington C. H., presented the question of organizing a Boy Scout Troop to be sponsored by the Grange at Madison Mills.

The question was later discussed by the Grange members, and some interesting points brought out, but nothing definite was decided.

Worthy Master William Looker presided over the business session. The secretary, Mrs. Margaret Shobe, gave a complete report, and our score of points received for the annual inspection, from the County Grange Deputy Ralph Nisley.

The following candidates were initiated in the first and second degrees: Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Baughn, Mr. and Mrs. Will Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Schlichter, and Miss Orsadee Stewart.

The degree team was composed of the following members: Master, Floyd Hornbeck; Overseer, Wilbur Allemang; Steward, William Looker; Assistant Steward, Russell Douglas; Lady Assistant Steward, Fontabell Harris; Chaplain, Albert Schmidt; Lecturer, Grace Allemang; Pomona, Mary Looker; Ceres, Doris Bitzer; Flora, Hallie Hornbeck; Harold King, was at the piano and Miss Janice Wilson, led a chorus of a group of women of the Grange.

The third and fourth degrees will be conferred upon the same candidates Thursday evening, November 12th. A practice for the work is scheduled for November 9 at 8:30 P. M.

The host and hostess committee were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Shobe, Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd Craig and Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Cox.

During the social hour, doughnuts and cider were served.

DOZEN ARMY PLANES FLY AT LOW ALTITUDE

A dozen U. S. Army planes, flying at extremely low altitude, passed over Fayette County from east to west about three miles north of Washington C. H., Friday afternoon.

Some of the planes were flying so low that they barely missed the tree tops, according to Sheriff W. H. Icenhower, who was driving along the Jeffersonville road at the time.

YOUNG REPUBLICAN CLUB HOLD MEETING

Officers Reelected and County Candidates Speak

The Fayette County Young Republican Club met last evening at the Republican Headquarters for its annual pre-election business and social session with an interested group of young Republicans attending.

Attorney Richard Rankin, president of the organization, called the business session to order and reviewed briefly the history of the organization. Rankin mentioned that the Fayette County Young Republican Club was organized in 1938 for the purpose of emphasizing the importance of young people in voting and taking an interest in political affairs and issues that stand for better government not only in their communities and state in the nation.

Atty. Thomas T. Craig was the first president of the club and Rankin succeeded him in 1940.

Due to the large number of the club's members serving in the nation's armed services and war industries, the group voted to retain the present officers until some future meeting. The officers are: Richard Rankin, president; Glen Harris, vice president (in the service); Mrs. Beth Maddox Wilson, secretary and Delbert Kimmey, treasurer.

All of the Republican candidates for Fayette County offices were present and spoke briefly to the organization. Robert Willis, candidate for county engineer, spoke of the important influence of the young people in taking part in elections and added that it is encouraging to know that the Fayette County Young Republican Club is active. Willis explained to the group in detail the circumstances of his name appearing on the independent ticket instead of under the Republican Eagle. Due to the fact that the county engineer's office was vacated after the primary it was impossible under the law to file a petition in time for him to appear on the Republican party ticket.

Ulric T. Acton, candidate for county auditor mentioned that his opponent's campaign issue has been based on courtesy in office. Acton declared, "if the people of Fayette County elect me, they will see courteousness at its best, for I plan to do the job 'with bells on.'" Stanley Paxson, local attorney, farmer, and business man, candidate for representative to the Ohio General assembly stated, "we have a fine county and state ticket this year and Governor John W.

MISSIONARIES ARE SPEAKERS

Wilmington District WSCS Meets November 4

Many Methodist women from Fayette County will attend the annual convention of Women's Societies of Christian Service of the Wilmington District of the Methodist Church, to be held at Cedarville, November 4.

Miss Ethel Harpst, founder and superintendent of the Ethel Harpst Home, Cedarville, Georgia, and Miss Pearl Mason, missionary to China, are to headline the program, which will be held in the Methodist Church at Cedarville.

Mrs. E. F. Andree, Wilmington, is program chairman. Mrs. E. P. Mundy, Terrace Park, district president will preside at both sessions.

The opening session is set for 9:30 A. M., featuring seminars conducted by Mrs. Peter Craig, Blanchester, and Mrs. G. H. Broomhall, Hillsboro. Mrs. Frank Creswell, is president of the host society. The women of the local United Presbyterian Church are serving the noon luncheon. The afternoon session opens at 1:30 P. M., concluding with a consecration and installation service conducted by Superintendent E. F. Andree, Wilmington. Delegates from the 150 churches over southwestern Ohio will attend.

There are 142 societies in this area with a total membership of 6,000, which will be represented in this convention in Cedarville.

Bricker is the finest governor Ohio has had since the administration of William McKinley. Other candidates present were: Thomas H. Parrett, candidate for county commissioner and Ouis Core unopposed on the non-partisan ticket for the unexpired term of judge of the probate court.

Rankin told the group that this year more than ever before, voters should be encouraged to go to the polls. "The Axis powers would enjoy telling the world that Americans show a lack of interest and faith in democracy in failing to exercise the privilege of voting," Rankin said. He urged every young Republican to contact the voters who "aren't planning to vote this year" and tell them of the importance of their ballots.

ROAD FUNDS TO BE MUCH LESS; DITTO TRAFFIC

Less Wear of Highways Is Seen When Most of Traffic Ends

With gasoline rationing taking about three fourths of the traffic off of the highways in Fayette County and the country generally, wear-and-tear on highways will be the smallest in a great many years.

As result of the tremendous reduction in amount of gasoline used, there will be a correspondingly large decrease in the amount of revenue from gasoline taxes.

In fact estimates are that the reduction in gasoline taxes will be so great that only a small part of the amount formerly received in Fayette County and the state generally, will be available for maintenance and repair of roads.

However, highway officials are not worrying greatly about the reduced revenues, for reduced wear on the roads will mean that only a comparatively small part of the former expense will be necessary to maintain the highways.

For years heavy expense has been placed on Federal, State, County and Township roads and as a result practically every mile of road in Fayette County is in good condition.

Heavy gasoline taxes from the sale of gas up to November 22 will add materially to the funds on hand and help provide a "nest egg" for carrying the roads through the winter.

MONTGOMERY WARD HAS NEW MANAGER

Beecher Dixon in Charge of Business Here

Beecher Dixon, of California, formerly of Columbus and Cleveland, has been named manager of the Montgomery Ward and Company Store in this city, succeeding A. I. DeLong.

DeLong was recently promoted to the management of the company's store in Huntington, Indiana, and went there this week.

Dixon has been with the firm 15 years and is thoroughly familiar with all phases of the business.

WATER STILL FLOWS OVER WATERWORKS DAM

Contrary to usual conditions at this time of the year water is still flowing over the dam at the Waterworks Plant in the northern part of the city.

The flow of water ceased in late July and there was no water going over the dam until sometime in August. Since that time there has been a flow, sometimes heavy and other times very light. The present flow is light.

COFFMAN FUNERAL TO BE HELD SUNDAY

FRANKFORT YOUTH IN CONVOY FIGHT

High School Sophomore Gets Action When He Enlists

Ralph Eugene Cox, 18, who gave up his sophomore studies at Frankfort High School last January to enlist in the navy, is reportedly in the thick of the fighting according to an AP report received from an undisclosed port in the United Kingdom.

Cox was a member of a navy gun crew on a recent convoy to Russia when the ship was sunk on its return trip from Archangel, Russia, but the crew managed to get one of the 11 bombers attacking them before their ship sank. In describing the attack, the report quoted one of the crew as saying: "It was a wild day for awhile, but we got the squadron leader when he flew within 150 feet of us." The report did not disclose Cox's whereabouts, but came from a port which serves as a center for survivors of U-boat and bomber attacks.

CHARGES FACED HERE BY MAN AND WOMAN

George Beedy, 51, and Mrs. Geneva Massie, 22, who disappeared together about two weeks ago, according to affidavits filed in the Probate Judge's office, were arrested and brought to jail late Friday by Deputy Sheriff Ott Reno. Charges of abandonment were placed against them.

Beedy left his wife and eight children, ranging in age from four to 17, and Mrs. Massie left her husband and three children the youngest, eight months and eldest 6 years, the affidavit said. Mrs. Massie was found in Fairview and Beedy about six miles the other side of South Charleston, according to Reno.

Charges filed by Beedy's wife and Massie instigated the search. They will remain in jail until a date for the hearing is set by the Probate Court.

LARGE REPRESENTATION EXPECTED AT MEETING

It is expected that a large representation of members of the Fayette County Women's Society of Christian Service will be at the Wilmington District meeting, to be held in Cedarville on next Wednesday, November 4. There will be both morning and afternoon sessions, beginning at 9:30 A. M.

Miss Ethel Harpst, founder and supervisor of the Ethel Harpst Home at Cedartown, Georgia, will be one of the two principal speakers, with Miss Pearl Mason, a missionary to China, the other.

THINK THIS OVER! THEN VOTE!

It is most essential today that we preserve the instruments by which the liberties, which we have surrendered to win the war, may be recovered after the war is won. The greatest of all these safeguards are the election, the ballot and the two-party system of government. The surest way to preserve the right to vote is to exercise it.

Every citizen should GO TO THE POLLS AND VOTE on November 3rd. It will be NOTICE TO THE DICTATORS AND THEIR FOLLOWERS that we intend to preserve the republic given to us by our forefathers.
